TH5059 God in Christian Theology and Philosophy: Preliminary reading

To help you prepare for this module, here are some useful readings, all available online through the University’s library search. You don’t need to read all of them, but it would be helpful to look at some of those listed under ‘Good places to start’, and then look at other things on the list which interest you!

Good places to start

Further reading:

